Product & Special Order Information

- Products, including data collection information, are clearly labeled using Nichols part numbers. If other information is required, please inform us.
- Products distributed by Nichols meet general industry requirements for tolerances, case pack, and packaging. If special information, including drawings, samples, or custom tolerances are required, contact your Nichols Representative or the Nichols Quality Department.
- From time to time, products are discontinued, part numbers and case pack quantities and specifications change. When this happens, product substitutions will automatically be made. Please inform the Nichols Customer Care team if special product substitution procedures are required.
- Nichols can special order or custom-stock products on request. A signed contract of usage and ownership of custom inventory are required. Custom stock items are not cancelable, returnable or refundable. Custom product orders must be pre-paid, unless other account credit is granted by Nichols. Special orders are not returnable or refundable.
